Factory Authorized Dealer

. To achieve this distinction, a dealer must meet the highest standards — not only for technical expertise, but also for business practices and customer service.

Our Mission and Vision

Lowery Heating and Air strives to be the leading HVAC contractor by providing quality products and services at competitive prices, while promoting controlled continuous growth. We will work hard to meet or exceed customer expectations, offering goods and services that set us apart from our competition, and be environmentally responsible. In this way, the customer, the employees, and the company are mutually benefited while maintaining and enhancing our company's reputation.

Our Customer Service Plan is available to everyone in our business, whether contacting us in person, by phone, or online. We are committed to providing the highest quality service to all our customers.
